Inner Yoga Trust Bursary Awards

---

Help with your course costs

The IYT offers a small number of bursary awards that are funded by our Abundance Club. One bursary of up to 50% of the course tuition fees are awarded per course. Accommodation costs are not covered by the bursary scheme. If financial circumstances are preventing you from following a yoga teaching path, please contact the course tutor who will be able to advise you if there are still awards available for the course you are interested in.

How to apply

Bursary awards must be made in person through the course teacher, who you will have already worked with on one or more of their workshops or classes. Following an informal interview, the course teacher will ask you to apply in writing outlining your personal circumstances and explaining how an award will enable you to move forward with your intention of training as a yoga teacher.

After considering each application, the course tutor will forward it on to our Board of Trustees for their approval and let you know that this next step has been taken. As there are a limited number of awards available for each course, there is no guarantee that each award can be accepted. Our course tutors and board of trustees take each application on their individual merit and each is treated in the strictest confidence.
